SIXTY-SECOND YEAR

"My Tuesdays are meatless,
My Wednesdays are wheatless;
I am getting more eatless each day.
My home it is heatless,
My bed it is sheetless
They're all sent to the Y. M. C. A.

The barrooms are treatless,
My coffee is sweetless;
Each day I get poorer and wiser.
My stockings are feetless,
My trousers are seatless; My! How I do hate the Kaiser."

quin have moved on to the Allais farm.

Floy Harmon and wife entertained on New Years day, her brother Joe Farrell and family and her sister Miss Nan Farrell.

The Red Cross Unit of Almena delivered the following articles to Paw Paw for shipment to headquarters:— 13 pairs of wristlets, 3 sweaters, 5 pairs of socks, 1 helmet, 1 muffler and a bundle of linen. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs.
Smith on Friday afternoon January 11th.

AHEAD OF QUOTA
BEFORE HOLIDAY.

In the two weeks Surgical Dressing Drive which closed Saturday, December 22nd, South Haven as usual went far ahead of her quota of three hundred dressings per day. The following list will convey a partial idea of how splendidly the ladies of the city answered the Supervisors' call for help, and how earnestly the girls of the Domestic Arts Department of the high school worked to make and finish four thousand of these bandages in the given time. If every school in the county would follow Supt. T.
E. Hook's example and give credits on this work, what a wonderful showing could be made. The class worked under the supervision of some one of the thirteen Supervisors and it is surprising what progress was made by these young girls. In two weeks were made:—

Gauze compresses, 4 x 4	9,540
Gauze compresses, 9 x 9	600
Gauze strips, 6 x 3	620
Gauze sponges	40
Irrigation pads	2
Triangular bandages	160
Abdominal bandages	60
Scultetus bandages	10

Total ----- 11,032
Four thousand of these were made by the Domestic Arts class of the high school.

The Shop was opened again after a weeks' vacation this afternoon, the hours to be as before the big drive, every afternoon and Tuesday and Friday evenings of each week.

Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, head of the Red Cross Commission in France says: "The question of surgical dressings deals with the most vital thing that women of America can do for the soldiers of the war."

To those who had not been to the Red Cross shop it was a wonderful sight to step in during the past two weeks and see the rooms filled, in most cases, with white robed women making these dressings which are so urgently needed, so many hundreds of them daily. Earnestly and diligently they applied themselves to the making of gauze compresses, strips, rolls and sponges, and various types of bandages. In the shop at the high school, as well as at the central shop, one found most of the workers wore serious faces, for one cannot witness the making and shipping of thousands of dressings without realizing the enormity of the suffering 'over there.' When ready for shipment they are wrapped in bundles ready for sterilization and packed in great boxes and sent to headquarters at Detroit.
